

NEW SHOOTS 2017

A FREE EXHIBITION OF PHOTOGRAPHY

18 September 2017

New Shoots 2017 showcases the creative talents of members of U3A Melbourne City, Australia's first University of the Third Age.

'This event demonstrates how the U3A learning environment encourages our members to explore their creative aspirations, providing an opportunity to display their works in public', said U3A Melbourne City President, Pamela Davies.

'The exhibition forms part of our contribution to the Seniors Festival in October 2017, the theme of which is 'It's your time ...''

'Twenty-five photographers will be exhibiting, including some encouraged by attending digital photography courses we have run during the last couple of years. Street, landscape, portrait, macro, still life and garden are among the genres represented'.

New Shoots 2017 is the fourth annual exhibition of photography we have staged. This time photographs will be showcased as mounted prints without framing. This will suit the Gallery space, emphasise the beauty created by the photographers' skill and artistry, and reduce the cost to exhibitors.

U3A Melbourne City acknowledged the generous support provided by the City of Melbourne and AMP Capital.

Entry to the exhibition is free.

Open to the public Tuesday 17 October to Sunday 5 November 2017, 10.00am - 6.00pm each day
